

SELF ESTEEM FOR CHILDREN WITH LEARNING DISABILITIES & ATTENTION ISSUES

TUESDAY

6TH

FEBRUARY 2018

Presented by

Jennifer Benevento

AFT CT Professional Development
& Issues Coordinator

5<sup>PM</sup>
to 7<sup>PM</sup>

Soifer
Room
@ AFT-CT

Self-esteem is important for everyone, especially children. Considering a person's self-esteem is tied up in their abilities and accomplishments, children with learning and attention issues can feel at a disadvantage even without external input and pressure. Positive self-esteem helps them academically and socially. Negative self-esteem fuels academic and social problems. In this session, we will examine what the learning and attention issues are, and why these students struggle to develop and maintain positive self-esteem. We will also learn practical strategies that can help these students develop and maintain positive self-esteem.

Light dinner will be served.

Register online at <https://leadernet.aft.org/webform/self-esteem>
or call the office at 860-257-9782