Demanding the Candidates Choose "Which Side Are You On?" *

When AFT Connecticut leaders in late May discovered shadowy special interests exploiting state employees' privacy, they triggered the next phase of our defense plan. Click here for the petition to candidates seeking our unions' endorsement demanding they reject these under-handed tactics.

Reaping Additional Benefits Beyond the Bargaining Table

Local union leaders in late May reflected on recent AFT Connecticut-coordinated professional development (PD) courses in which they participated or presented to their colleagues. Click here for our report on members benefitting "from so many different kinds of experience and skill sets."

Training and Developing Future Teacher Leaders

Members from three affiliates in late May participated in the Connecticut Central State University (CCSU) School of Education and Professional Studies' (SEPS) Teacher Leader Institute. Click here for photos from the day-long event, which included breakout sessions presented by local union leaders.

Protecting and Preserving Access to Quality, Affordable Care

Members of local retiree unions shared their personal stories as part of the "Protect Our Care" project organized by the Connecticut Alliance for Retired Americans (ARA). Click here to watch two retired activists add their voices to the call for the coverage "everyone deserves."

"Acting Now to Prevent a Crisis in November" *

Delegates to our annual convention in mid May voted overwhelmingly to formally back educator and businessman Ned Lamont's candidacy in this year's gubernatorial election. Click here for our report on this important step forward in our grassroots "labor is your neighbor" program.

Planning Our "Road Ahead" Together

Nearly two hundred delegates from affiliated locals gathered for AFT Connecticut's convention in order to take the next steps in advancing our 2018 strategic plan. Click here for photos from the event where the "U and I in Union's" power was on display.

(Editor's note: click here for material provided to delegates in advance and at the convention.)

Putting Ourselves on the Line for Justice

AFT Connecticut in mid May was "all-in" for the first local demonstration organized in our state by the national Poor People's Campaign (PPC). Click here for photos of leaders, staff and social justice committee members arrested for taking a stand in Hartford.

Carrying on Dr. King's Unfinished Work

State federation leaders in April began mobilizing union members to support and be part of the PPC's actions coordinated locally and across the country. Click here for our report-back on launching a campaign built on "lessons of non-violent, civil disobedience."
