Presented by

UNION LEADER

Educators know that student success depends on more than what happens in the classroom—it's about having the right supports, materials, and systems in place. This interactive workshop will explore real-world challenges facing teachers and paraeducators, while giving you tools and strategies to advocate for and secure the resources your students deserve. Together, we'll move from frustration to action, building solutions that can make a difference in classrooms, schools, and districts.

In this workshop, we'll dig into:

- The biggest barriers to student achievement—and how resource gaps play a role
- Classroom, school, and district-level strategies to assess needs and build solutions
- Real examples of how educators are finding success in securing resources
- SMART goal planning and group strategy sessions to turn ideas into action
- How to work as a team to influence policy, practice, and resource distribution

This is not just another meeting—it's a hands-on, problem-solving space designed to help you feel empowered, supported, and ready to make change. Whether you're a paraeducator on the frontlines, a classroom teacher balancing competing needs, or a leader looking for systemic solutions, this workshop will leave you with practical next steps and a renewed sense of efficacy.
