Last year, lawmakers passed over $1 trillion in health funding cuts as part of H.R. 1. The most severe human and economic consequences of these cuts will not take effect until after the midterm elections, which is why we need to make our voices heard now.

Seven Days in June: HEALTH IS PRIMARY is part of a national grassroots-driven week of action to expose and fight back against these cuts and their devastating impact on our healthcare infrastructure. Health cuts kill, and communities across America – from rural towns to large cities – are already paying the price.

Health is not partisan. HEALTH IS PRIMARY.
